This Week's Focus

Math - We are currently exploring equivalent fractions and fractional parts. Students have been using and modeling benchmark fractions (0, $\frac{1}{2}$, 1) daily. There will be a quiz on equivalent fractions later this week.

Science - We have almost completed our study of the Sun-Earth-Moon system. There will be a test this week. A study guide will go home on Monday, January 29. The test will be on February 2.

Reading-We will finish "Charlie & the Chocolate Factory." We will begin watching the movie and working on a comparison between the book & movie.

Grammar- We are working with prepositions & idioms.

Writing-We are practicing opinion writing.

Social Studies-Our focus is on the forming of a new nation and a new government.
